

We're delighted that over the years many of our signature doublecloths have been chosen to represent Welsh tradition and heritage.

These designs are unique to us, some are vintage originals first made in the 1950's and 60's, some are contemporary reworking of the doublecloth tradition, but all share the same DNA and are only ever woven here at Melin Tregwynt

From the Agora at the National Eisteddfod to International Music events and promotional gifts it's great to see these designs from our own archive promoting Wales to the world.

Fabric of Wales Brethyn Gymraeg

Welcome Croeso

A tradition still in the making....

Melin Tregwynt is a small whitewashed woollen mill hidden away in a remote wooded valley on the Pembrokeshire coast.

There has been a mill on this site since the 17th Century, when local farmers would bring their fleeces to be spun into yarn and woven into sturdy Welsh wool blankets.

Today we find our yarns from further afield but the legacy of Welsh doublecloth weaving is still handed down from generation to generation and weaving continues in the same mill building.

The history of weaving is recorded here in an unbroken line right back to 1839, and the mill has now been owned by the same family since 1912. Over 30 people work here creating fabrics which are useful, beautiful to look at and just a little bit special

Traddodiad sy'n parhau

Melin fechan, wyngalchog yw Melin Tregwynt ac mae'n swatio mewn cwm coediog, anghysbell ar arfordir Penfro.

Bu melin ar y safle hwn ers yr 17eg Ganrif, a bryd hynny byddai ffermwyr lleol yn dod â'u cnau i'w nyddu yn edafedd a'u gwehyddu yn garhenni o wllan Cymreig.

Heddiw, mae ein hedafedd yn teithio ymhellach i'n cyrraedd, ond caiff y traddodiad Cymreig o wehyddu brethyn dwbl ei drosglwyddo o genhedlaeth i genhedlaeth o hyd, ac mae'r gwehyddu'n parhau yn yr un felin.

Yma, cofnodir hanes gwehyddu mewn llinell ddi-dor sy'n ymestyn yn ôl i 1841, ac mae'r felin wedi bod yn yr un teulu ers 1912. Mae dros 30 o bobl yn gweithio yma, i greu ffabrigau sy'n ddefnyddiol, yn hardd ac ychydig bach yn arbennig

Welsh Doublecloth

Brethyn Dwbl Cymreig

These fabrics in Pure New Wool or 100% Lambswool are woven to our widest width of 260cm

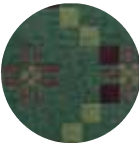

Doublecloth is a traditional weave deeply rooted in Welsh folk history. Every mill had its own special design. One of the most striking effects is the reversible nature of the cloth and you can use both sides. Our cushions are normally supplied with one side face and one reverse.

Forest Fforest

A vibrant red and orange patterned blanket, featuring a stylized tree motif, is draped over a rustic wooden fence. The fence is set against a backdrop of dense green foliage and trees, creating a serene forest atmosphere. The blanket's pattern consists of repeating stylized tree shapes in orange and yellow against a red background, with a border of smaller geometric patterns.

Inspired by the changing colours and seasons of the wooded valley surrounding our mill, our Forest design branches out from tradition.

The bold, simple and contemporary motif is complemented by beautiful evocative tones. It brings a little of the outdoors in; extending your favourite season at any time of year.

History Hanes

Our family company has been weaving here at Tregwynt Mill in Pembrokeshire, West Wales for one hundred years. Henry Griffiths bought Melin Tregwynt in 1912 for £760 and then moved there with his young wife Esther. Their two sons were Benjamin and Howard. Howard and his wife Eluned ran the mill from the 1950s.

Their son Eifion and his wife Amanda have been running the Mill since 1986. The skills and knowledge of all their staff, both past and present, keep the tradition of Welsh weaving alive at Melin Tregwynt.

Yma ym Melin Tregwynt yn Sir Benfro, mae ein cwmni teuluol wedi bod yn gwehyddu ers can mlynedd. Prynodd Henry Griffiths Felin Tregwynt ym 1912 am £760 ac yna symudodd yno gyda'i wraig ifanc Esther. Eu dau fab oedd Benjamin a Howard. Roedd Howard a'i wraig Eluned yn rhedeg y felin o'r 1950au.

Mae eu fab Eifion ac Amanda ei wraig wedi bod yn rhedeg y Felin ers 1986. Sgiliau'r staff, a'u gwybodaeth, nawr ac yn y gorffennol, sy'n cadw traddodiad gwehyddu Cymreig yn fyw ym Melin Tregwynt.
